

DARLA'S DREAM

by J. Robert Wilkins

Performance Rights

It is an infringement of the federal copyright law to copy this script in any way or to perform this play without royalty payment. All rights are controlled by Eldridge Publishing Co., Inc. Contact the publisher for additional scripts and further licensing information.

On all programs and advertising the author's name must appear as well as this notice: "Produced by special arrangement with Eldridge Publishing Company."

PUBLISHED BY

ELDRIDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY

www.histage.com

© 2001 by J. Robert Wilkins

Download your complete script from Eldridge Publishing
<http://www.histage.com/playdetails.asp?PID=1057>

STORY OF THE PLAY

Welcome to Darla's dream world. On this particular night, Darla and her best friend Maxine, set off to find prom dresses, dates and a limo. Along the way, they meet a number of unique individuals and situations. Darla's mother has selected the world's ugliest prom dress for her daughter. A hobo confronts the girls for spare change. Arthur, the nerdy limo salesman, tries to become Darla's prom date. Parker, Darla's history teacher, uses detention time to threaten Darla's attendance at the prom. Ashley, the school's rich girl, reminds Darla that she will never date the school dreamboat, Roger Harcourt. Through all of this Constance, Darla's conscience, tries to keep Darla on the straight and narrow. In the second part of the play, Darla and Maxine find themselves in their future. They arrive at a Christmas party where the characters from high school have become their co-workers. The pursuit of Roger continues and Darla almost realizes her dreams before she wakes up.

Running Time:

Approximately 45 minutes

CAST OF CHARACTERS

(2 m, 6 w, 2 flexible)

DARLA: A high school senior; casually dressed in jeans and a T-shirt.

MAXINE: Darla's best friend, also a senior; casually dressed.

MOTHER: Darla's mother, in her 50s.

CONSTANCE: Darla's conscience; looks, acts and dresses very much like Darla.

HOBO: A tramp in his (her) 30s with a shopping cart.

OPERATOR/SUPERVISOR: A well-dressed business women in her late 20s.

PARKER/DANFORTH: Darla's high school history teacher and boss. He (she) is in his (her) 50s and is dressed in business attire.

ARTHUR: A typical male nerd in his early 30s.

ASHLEY: Darla's classmate, the typical socialite snob; wears a party dress.

ROGER HARCOURT: A handsome man in his late 20's; dressed in slacks, blazer and tie.

Casting note: The same actress may play the parts of OPERATOR/SUPERVISOR and ASHLEY. As noted, the parts of PARKER/DANFORTH and the HOBO may be played by either male or female actor.

PRODUCTION NOTES

SETTING

The play can be performed on a bare stage; however, the set designer is encouraged to use imagination in creating a dream-like setting. This setting can be as simple or elaborate as the facility and budget allow. In its simplest format, a bare stage and creative lighting will suffice.

PROPS

Dress rack with a variety of dresses
Shopping cart filled with junk
Telephone
White pages telephone book
Yellow pages telephone book
Clipboard
Rope
Bridal veil and bouquet
Sack of empty pop cans
A bill
Pizza box

DARLA'S DREAM

(AT RISE: The stage is black. A few LIGHTS come up very dimly. DARLA sits at center. MAXINE is asleep beside her.)

DARLA: She's going. She's almost there. (A few more LIGHTS come up.) Come on. That's it. (Hums a few bars of a lullaby. All the LIGHTS come up. DARLA rises.) All right! She's asleep. The start of another beautiful day. Come on, Maxine. It's time to get up.

MAXINE: (Waking.) What? Is it morning already?

DARLA: Yes, it is. That was a long night. I thought she would never go to bed.

MAXINE: (Yawns.) Not quite long enough for me.

DARLA: Come on. Let's get going. Who knows how long she'll sleep today.

MAXINE: What's your rush?

DARLA: I don't know. I have a lot of energy today. I have a feeling there's something important I have to do.

MAXINE: You always have something important to do, Darla. Can't you relax once in a while?

DARLA: Relax? I tried it once but I didn't like it.

MAXINE: Well, I try it every day and I really like it. (Rolls over.) Call me if you feel like dancing.

DARLA: That's it! Our prom dresses.

MAXINE: (Sits up.) What?

DARLA: We've got to get our prom dresses. It's only three weeks away.

MAXINE: (Rises.) Prom is only three weeks away. Why didn't you tell me?

DARLA: I just did.

MAXINE: But we don't have dresses.

DARLA: I know that.

MAXINE: Worse yet, you don't have a date.

DARLA: I am well aware of that fact, Maxine.

MAXINE: Well, what are we going to do? I mean, you don't know that many available guys.

DARLA: Let's take things one step at a time. First, we need dresses.

Darla's Dream

-6-

(MOTHER enters with a rack of clothes. All of the dresses are extremely ugly, tattered, or ill-fitting.)

MOTHER: Don't worry, dear. I am sure we can find something in the closet for you to wear.

DARLA: I am not going to wear some old hand-me-down to my prom, Mother.

MOTHER: Oh. No. These have never been worn. I've been saving them for a special occasion just like this. (Takes a dress from the rack. The dress is a very gaudy color.) Here, try on this one.

MAXINE: That's really not your color, Darla.

DARLA: It's not anybody's color.

MOTHER: (Puts the dress back on the rack and takes another that is obviously too small for DARLA.) How about this one?

DARLA: It would be fine...if I was a midget. (MOTHER puts dress back on rack.)

MAXINE: Let's go, Darla. We're wasting time.

MOTHER: (Takes a dress from the rack that is too big for DARLA.) Here it is. Your dream dress.

MAXINE: More like your nightmare dress.

DARLA: I don't think so, Mother.

MOTHER: Come on, now. Try it on. Do it for me.

DARLA: Oh, all right. (Puts dress on.) There. Satisfied now?

MAXINE: Have you lost weight, Darla?

MOTHER: It's perfect. You look so beautiful. (Begins to sob.) My baby is all grown up.

DARLA: The dress is too big, Mother.

MOTHER: Nonsense. It's fits you like a glove. (Sobbing.) You'll be the belle of the ball.

MAXINE: (Takes DARLA aside.) You can't go to the prom in that, Darla. You look like a bag lady.

DARLA: I know. (Begins to take the dress off.)

(CONSTANCE enters and crosses to DARLA.)

CONSTANCE: Oh, no, Darla. You can't do that.

Darla's Dream

-7-

DARLA: Why not?

CONSTANCE: Think what it will do to your mother. She picked this dress especially for you.

MAXINE: But it's butt-ugly.

CONSTANCE: It's a special dress, Darla.

DARLA: Maxine's right. Besides it doesn't even fit me.

CONSTANCE: Your mother picked it, Darla. (Exits while walking backwards.) You want to make your mother happy, don't you?

DARLA: (Looks at her MOTHER. Mother is smiling at DARLA.) Oh, all right. I'll wear the stupid dress.

(MOTHER exits with dress rack.)

MAXINE: Oh, great. Well, if you're going to wear a dress like that, we had better rent a limo.

DARLA: We can't afford a limo.

MAXINE: Who says we're going to pay.

DARLA: Who is going to pay?

MAXINE: (Crosses to DL.) Our dates.

DARLA: (Crosses to MAXINE.) But we don't have dates.

MAXINE: We will when we have the limo. We will be the hot babes that everyone wants to date.

DARLA: Right. So where do we get a limo?

MAXINE: I don't know. At the limo store, I guess.

DARLA: I know. Let's look in the Yellow Pages.

MAXINE: Look. There's a phone over there.

(DARLA and MAXINE cross to telephone. HOBO enters and intercepts Darla and Maxine.)

HOBO: Excuse me, ladies. Do you have any change you could spare?

MAXINE: Oh, creepy. Get away.

DARLA: It's all right, Maxine. No, we don't have any change.

HOBO: Are you sure? Check your purse.

DARLA: We don't have purses. Now if you will excuse us, we have to get to that phone.

End of Freeview

Download your complete script from Eldridge Publishing
<http://www.histage.com/playdetails.asp?PID=1057>

Eldridge Publishing, a leading drama play publisher since 1906, offers more than a thousand full-length plays, one-act plays, melodramas, holiday plays, religious plays, children's theatre plays and musicals of all kinds.

For more than a hundred years, our family-owned business has had the privilege of publishing some of the finest playwrights, allowing their work to come alive on stages worldwide.

We look forward to being a part of your next theatrical production.

Eldridge Publishing... for the start of your theatre experience!