WORKS IN PROGRESS

By Paul H. Johnson

Performance Rights

It is an infringement of the federal copyright law to copy or perform any part of this play without royalty payment. All rights are controlled by Eldridge Publishing Co., Inc. Contact the publisher for further scripts and licensing information.

On all programs and advertising the author's name must appear as well as this notice: “Produced by special arrangement with Eldridge Publishing Company”

ELDRIDGE PUBLISHING COMPANY
www.histage.com
© 1996 by Paul H. Johnson

Download your complete script from Eldridge Publishing
DEDICATION

For all of my students

STORY OF THE PLAY

This play is a compilation of scenes from teenage life. It is a challenging acting tool for actors of every level. It begins by taking a look at some of the individuals we have in schools today. It quickly moves on to examine the rituals of dating by allowing the consciences to speak out loud to the audiences ... not much has changed! While this play takes a humorous look at many facets of teenage lives, it touches on some of the social ills, too. Anorexia is one topic dealt with in a frank, realistic exchange of emotional dialogue. Saying good-bye to a friend is another topic that is handled in a serious manner. All in all, “Works in Progress” is a glimpse into the turbulent, emotionally vacillating years of high school.
TABLE OF CONTENTS

ACT I
MONOLOGUES
THE DATE
CHEATING
HOMECOMING
BREAKING UP ISN’T HARD TO DO THE TRUTH

ACT II
MONOLOGUES
THE PROM DATE PHONE DANCE
SAYING GOOD-BYE
CHANNEL SURFING
THE PROM DATE PHONE DANCE II
GRADUATION THOUGHTS
PROPS

ACT I

MONOLOGUES: Electric guitar.
THE DATE: Ladders, bench.
HOMECOMING: Shakespearean hat, itinerary, note pad and pencil, cowboy hat, guitar, long hair wig.
THE TRUTH: Purse, diuretics.
BREAKING UP...: Couch or bean bag chairs.
PROM DATE PHONE DANCE I and II: 9 telephones, list, distributor cap.
SAYING GOOD-BYE: Musical instruments, song sheets, electrical cords, boxes, poster, bass guitar.
CHANNEL SURFING: Remote control, telephone.
GRADUATION THOUGHTS: Mortar boards and gowns.
Scene 1
MONOLOGUES

CAST OF CHARACTERS
(10 Flexible)

ACTOR 1....... High school student
ACTOR 2....... Poorer student
ACTOR 3....... High school geek
ACTOR 4....... Athlete
ACTOR 5....... Wants to be a farmer
ACTOR 6....... Musician
ACTOR 7....... Average student
ACTOR 8....... Homecoming queen
ACTOR 9....... “Mr. Cool”
ACTOR 10...... Another student

(The ACTORS are arranged around the stage in various poses typical to teenagers. There could be special lighting for each to present their monologues or a general lighting plot with each actor breaking the pose and walking DS to address the audience. When they are done they assume their original pose. Multiple levels would add to the visual effect of this scene.)

ACTOR 1: High school. Remember it? Some of you out there remember it ‘cause you’re living through it now. Others remember certain things ... like a teacher, a girl or guy, friends, or some prank you pulled ... like putting a Volkswagen Beetle in the commons area one night, or driving around town stealing gnomes out of people’s yards. Yeah ... now you remember. And you remember there’s a lot to high school, so, some things have changed and some things haven’t. One thing that hasn’t changed is the fact that we are all kinda works in progress, you know, like not really done yet. We are all in the same boat, but yet different ... you know?
ACTOR 2: I don't have a lot of nice things. I don't blame my parents though. You see, they're saving up to buy a house for us. So, everything I get seems to be hand-me-downs or from rummage sales. That's okay though, I mean, at least my parents love me and I get to do things with them ... they're still married and seem happy. I do wish, though, that I could have a new dress once in awhile.

ACTOR 3: (You may want to plant "Mom" in the audience to gasp and make comments.) Hi. Yeah, I'm a geek, nerd, dweeb. I'm sorry, Mom. I'm a student who studies a lot, not out of need, but out of sheer boredom. You see, I'm considered a leper by my classmates. My mom still drives me everywhere! Sorry, Mom, but you do. Imagine the embarrassment of having your mother drive you to your first rock concert. Not only that, but she insisted upon walking me up to the door and kissed me good-bye. It's just easier to stay home. Mom, don't cry, you'll get the hiccups again.

ACTOR 4: I love sports. I'm good at hockey, but my friends don't appreciate the sacrifices I make to work at being good. Most just think I'm stuck-up. I'm really not. That's all.

ACTOR 5: I grew up on a farm. Farming is what I know and what I want to do. I chew tobacco - well, not in classes anymore, after Mr. Kenny caught me and squeezed my lips together until I swallowed some. I about puked. I'm not in a lot of activities in school 'cause I go home after school and work. I'd rather go hunting or to the races than almost anything else. My town friends don't understand, but I don't really expect them to.

ACTOR 6: (GUITAR PLAYER hits a power cord - Sings.) "Headbanging is GREAT ... (Screams.) You know, I don't pay attention in class. What the hell. You were probably hooked on Elvis, the Beatles, or the Stones when you were growing up and you didn't listen all the time either, or ... or ... you doodled all over in your notebooks, too. Now you're doctors, lawyers, teachers, preachers. No diff. I'll turn out all right. (Hits a power chord and scream-sings something unintelligible.)
ACTOR 7: I ... I ... I’m no one special. In fact, I’m terribly average. I do my work ... Bs, Cs ... I’m in sports ... I sit on the bench mostly. I never do anything too strange in school. Most teachers take me for granted and don’t really know I exist. I do, though, and there are more of us quiet ones than you may think.

ACTOR 8: Well, I’m the current homecoming queen, I’m a 4.0 student, I care about people, and I’m going to be a doctor someday to help the less fortunate in our community. (The GROUP reacts with fake retching.) I’m also the boys’ basketball head cheerleader, I help in creating school spirit. (Doing a cheer routine.) “Give me a ‘G,’ give me an ‘O.’” (Directed at audience.) Why are you just sitting there? Afraid of getting involved? Geez!

ACTOR 9: You know me ... I’m your worst nightmare. I could be your daughter’s next boyfriend! I noticed some of the dads out there squirmed a little bit. Relax. Hey, some of you wanted to be me when you were my age. Admit it. I’m cool. But because I have an “image,” I’m also an easy target. If anything is wrong, blame me. If anything is missing, blame me. If anything is ... well, you get what I’m gettin’ at. (HE begins to leave, then comes back.) I saw a poster of Shakespeare in English class that had a neat quotation: “Nothing is neither good nor bad but thinking makes it so.” So don’t think too much.

ACTOR 10: We all have had a lot of “firsts” to remember in our teen years. Our first driving ... GROUP: ACCIDENT
ACTOR 10: ... our first car ...
GROUP: JUNKER
ACTOR 10: ... our first love ...
GROUP: AAAAH!
ACTOR 10: ... first party ...
GROUP: YEAH!
ACTOR 10: ... first job ...
GROUP: ORDER PLEASE.
ACTOR 10: ... and we all have a lot of first dates to get through.
End of Freeview

Download your complete script from Eldridge Publishing

Eldridge Publishing, a leading drama play publisher since 1906, offers more than a thousand full-length plays, one-act plays, melodramas, holiday plays, religious plays, children's theatre plays and musicals of all kinds.

For more than a hundred years, our family-owned business has had the privilege of publishing some of the finest playwrights, allowing their work to come alive on stages worldwide.

We look forward to being a part of your next theatrical production.

Eldridge Publishing... for the start of your theatre experience!